erly meet such emergencies as have arisen during the past season with regard to waterfowl.

Be it resolved that this Association record its appreciation of the efforts of the Bureau of Biological Survey, and commends its energetic handling of the situation brought about by the wildfowl crisis, and we, the state game administrators, pledge to them our support in making efficacious the regulations promulgated to meet this emergency.

During the past year this Association lost one of its most conscientious and highly revered members in the death of Carlos Avery. We lament his untimely passing and extend our heartfelt sympathy to the members of his family and share in their bereavement.

The Association desires to express its highest appreciation and acknowledgment of the many courtesies extended during this convention on the part of the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission and to congratulate the state of Arkansas upon its ability to have in charge of conservation activities men whose character and abilities in the prosecution of a constructive wildlife program are recognized through the nation. The hospitality extended by the commission to this convention has been more than generous and has contributed to a very marked degree to the success of this meeting and to the enjoyment of all its members in attendance.

We express our appreciation of the many courtesies of the Chamber of Commerce of Hot Springs and of its splendid co-operation in making this meeting one of the outstanding conventions of the Association.

It is with deep appreciation that we record our commendation of the press of Hot Springs and of the state of Arkansas for their whole-hearted co-operation in giving publicity to the proceedings of the convention.

Special acknowledgment is due the management of the Arlington Hotel for the splendid manner in which every need for this convention and its members has been anticipated, and quite no small part of the credit for the success of this meeting and the pleasure and comfort of its delegates is due to the courteous home-like hospitality and perfect appointments of the hotel in meeting every requirement of the convention.
